Unit 5

Reproduction and Modification in Plants

Learning Objectives

After studying this lesson, students will be able to:

- understand how a flower becomes a fruit with seed through pollination and fertilization.
- acquire knowledge about pollination and pollinators.
- differentiate self pollination and cross pollination in plants.
- know about the modification of root, stem and leaves.
- understand how these modifications are useful to animal and human being.